"THE RIGHTS OF MAN."—The St. Crispian Society, in Massachusetts, is a powerful organization, which controls absolutely the shoemaking business of that State. Almost all these sons of St. Crispian are vehement assertors of human rights. They clamor for the extension of our territory, in order that the rest of mankind may enjoy freedom under our flag.
They have raved and wailed in their time on account of the existence of the institution of slavery, and denounced those who refused to let the negro enjoy his own earnings. They are, in fact, eminently progressive and philanthropic. They have, however, one peculiarity: When their own interests are involved they take a very worldly minded view of things.
When they owned negroes they waited until they sold them before they began to teach us our duty towards our black brethren. They sware by Webster and the Constitution until they found it more profitable to advocate the "higher law." They thought that every man was bound to do battle for the Union, and imported more foreigners to fill Massachusetts regiments with than all the rest of the New England States together.

And now they insist that the South shall not only recognize the political equality of the negro, but demand the enactment of the most stringent laws to protect him against any and every attempt to molest or intimidate him in any conceivable way. But no shoemaker in Massachusetts is allowed by these progressive reformers to work on any other terms than the majority of the Society of St. Crispian may choose to prescribe! Freedom of action they approve of elsewhere, but no individual of the craft must dispute their so-called will in Massachusetts. The rights of man and the equality of races, and "exact" justice to all, they war-rantly uphold in a general way; but they have pretty much made up their minds that Chinese shall not work in shoe factories in that State. A Mr. Sampson has lately hired in San Francisco some seventy-five Chinese, who arrived at his factory, in the town of North Adams, a few days ago. They are quiet and peaceable, and are said to be learning the different branches of shoemaking with wonderful quickness. But alas for the rights of man! Alas for human brotherhood! These luckless Chinese, on the free and enlightened soil of Massachusetts, are prisoners in Mr. Sampson's factory.
A correspondent in North Adams tells how they we received there. "As soon as the blue shirts, long coats and queer leeks were seen, the air was filled with hoots and all kinds of taunting shouts. The Chinese were quite imperturbable, and did not even mind the appellations of wretch yelled into their ears from the wayside.
An ample police force was in attendance, and the new company marched "in column," slowly through the streets to the throats which were raised to "promise all the enormities of Sheffield" that "the feeling of bitterness and anger among the white population daily increases, and it is not considered safe to allow the Chinese to go abroad without protection," and that "Mr. Sampson thinks it necessary to guard his buildings after nightfall to prevent incendiaries."

But the Congressional Representatives of Massachusetts may be relied on to keep up the reputation of the State for progressive humanitarianism. Sumner is thundering against the Southern aristocrats who decline to accept the blacks as social equals and companions. Banks is sternly insisting that we shall vindicate the cause of the swarthy Cubans. Butler demands the punishment of Georgia because her Legislature declined to receive some illegally elected black men. And all Massachusetts would assemble in mass meeting to morrow to protest against the outrages perpetrated on Chinamen in San Francisco!—Balt. Ga.

A BUSY EXECUTIONER.—A letter from Athens, speaking of the execution of the brigands concerned in the murder of the English travellers, says their decapitation was delayed in consequence of the absence of the public executioner on a professional tour. The following list of his performances is given:— "Last Friday week he beheaded three brigands at Styrida, on Saturday two at Lamia, on Monday two at Hydrunt; he was then at Lerida, where he was to execute a notorious criminal. He was then to go to Chalcis and to Athens to behead, afterward, the seven under sentence of death. His next destination is Corinth, where he is to execute five brigands who have been for some time awaiting the execution of their sentence. One of the brigands beheaded at Styrida, had been condemned to death five times. These executions, it might be imagined, would be a heavy blow and great discouragement to brigandage, but it is not so. Either the system or the sympathy with it seems rooted among the mass of the Greek people, and by no means the people of the lower orders exclusively."

"SERVILE LABOR."—Mr. Stewart, of Nevada, is not a good republican up to the standard of the fifteenth amendment. He wants to make distinctions against yellow John Chinese, and takes as a pretext against him the way in which he apprentices himself and which contracts are made for his labor. He does not want "servile labor" to compete with free labor in this country. But where is the element of slavery in the Chinese labor, where a certain service is rendered and a stipulated pay given? Is John Chinaman's labor service because he moves in companies? Is it because of many laborers that makes labor service? Then what does Mr. Stewart say to the trades unions and their rules made to control the free action of individuals? N. Y.

A GENUINE BONAPARTE.—Nature in the very lineaments she gave to the son of Jerome Bonaparte and the Baltimore belle, put a recognition of his descent, that even the Emperor or Napoleon could not nullify. Nature has done the same thing in the disease of with. He died of cancer—the family disease, of which the first Napoleon himself was a victim.
